2010 - 2014

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENT PLAN

On the cover:

Open (Accessibility)

Creating an open, fully accessible park system is the cornerstone of Chicago Park District work. The recent plaza renovation of Buckingham Fountain increased accessibility for all users and is one of many projects to represent how Chicago Park District facilities are designed and built to meet or exceed ADA (Americans with Disabilities Act) compliance standards.

Active (Fitness)

The Chicago Park District is committed to providing facilities that encourage physical activity and imagination play. The new playground at Jonquil Park is one of countless amenities that offer neighborhood children opportunities to get fit and have fun. Facilities like these support a greater quality of life through play.

Green (Environmental Stewardship)

As trusted stewards of Chicago's natural environment, the Chicago Park District works to incorporate green practices into all of its capital projects. The new field house at Jesse Owens Park is one of the new LEED rated facilities in our parks. The field house uses energy efficient heating and cooling systems, incorporates water management strategies, and even has a green garden on the roof. Other LEED facilities include the field house at Taylor-Lauridsen, the new DuSable Harbor Building, and two new lakefront beach houses to be built in 2010.

Connected (Partnerships)

Many projects, like the new Little Cubs Field at Humboldt Park could not be realized without the financial support of our partners. Contributions from elected officials and private organizations as well as City and Chicago Park District funds are essential to the building and maintenance of our parks.

Central Photo

Many projects, like the new Park 540 at 2401 S. Federal Street encompass more than one of the Chicago Park District goals to be Open, Active, Green, and Connected. This park development provides new opportunity to the community for athletic and recreational play (Active), involved environmental clean up of the existing land (Green), met all ADA guidelines for accessibility (Open), and was possible through a funding partnership with the State, City, and Chicago Park District (Connected).

Dear Friends:

As General Superintendent of the Chicago Park District, one of my greatest tasks is ensuring that Chicago neighborhoods are equipped with facilities that support recreation activities. Our field houses, playgrounds, and other recreation facilities support the countless opportunities we offer Chicagoans to keep active and at play. Even in difficult economic times, we must invest in our parks by building new facilities as well as enhancing existing ones.

In 2009, we continued to fulfill our commitment to build playgrounds for all children to enjoy, regardless of their physical ability. This year, we completed 29 new, fully accessible playgrounds in parks across the city. We also constructed new field houses at Jesse Owens Park in the Chicago Heights community, Taylor-Lauridsen Park in the Canaryville community, and new Willye White field house in Rogers Park. In fact, this was the first time in decades that the Chicago Park District completed three new field houses in a single year. In 2010, we will continue to build new facilities, including two new field houses, two new beach houses, two new harbors, and more than a dozen new playgrounds. We will also invest in our existing infrastructure through projects like new roofs, windows, and related energy efficiency improvements.

Public-private partnerships have always been the key to our progress. Without the ongoing support of individuals and organizations that understand the importance of parks, many vital projects could not be accomplished. These partnerships are now more important than ever as we continue to wait for more than $26 million in State funds for prior year projects and an additional $41 million in State funds for 2010-2014 projects. Moving forward, the Chicago Park District can no longer front dollars to cover state funded projects. As a result, some of the projects outlined in this plan will be delayed.

This Capital Improvement Plan presents the Chicago Park District's forecast for park improvements over the next five years. Each project was selected through careful consideration and with valuable input from advisory councils and other community stakeholders. Through our long-term plan and commitment to enhance the quality of life throughout Chicago, we will continue to provide excellent recreation opportunities, beautifully maintained facilities, and a customer focused and responsive park system.

Thank you.

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENT PLAN DEVELOPMENT

As part of the annual budget development process for each capital improvement plan, the Park District conducts public hearings throughout the City. Information from these hearings is combined with needs assessment data and internal and external priorities to produce a list of recommended projects. Each recommended project is evaluated and grouped according to the following criteria:

DETERIORATED FACILITY .. A project that meets this criterion is one that addresses a deteriorated facility or piece of equipment. Projects may include reconstruction or extensive rehabilitation of a facility or piece of equipment to extend its useful life to avoid or postpone replacing it with a new and more costly one. Also included is complete replacement of a facility or piece of equipment with a new one.

SYSTEMATIC REPLACEMENT .. A project that meets this criterion is one that replaces or upgrades a facility or piece of equipment as part of a systematic replacement program. There is an assumption that the equipment will be replaced at approximately the same service level with some increase for normal anticipated growth or increased demand.

OPERATING EFFICIENCY .. A project that meets this criterion is one that substantially and significantly improves current or future operating efficiency, including reduction of anticipated increases in operating expenses.

COORDINATION .. A project that meets this criterion is one that is necessary to ensure coordination with another capital improvement project, an external requirement, such as an unfunded mandate, or a project that meets established goals or objectives of the Park District.

EQUITABLE PROVISION .. A project that meets this criterion is one that serves a segment of Chicago's population or geographic area identified by public policy as deserving particular attention.

RESOURCE CONSERVATION AND PROTECTION .. A project that meets this criterion is one that protects and enhances the Park District's natural resources or improves infrastructure to increase the capacity or useful life of a facility or piece of equipment.

Once associated with a criterion or several criteria, a project is grouped with others of its kind into priority funding categories:

- Urgent, high-priority projects that should be undertaken if possible.
- High-priority projects that should be done if funding becomes available.
- Worthwhile projects to be considered if funding becomes available.
- Desirable, but not essential, low-priority projects.

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENT PLAN AND PROJECT STATUS

The following pages reflect the Capital Improvement Program estimates for 2010-2014. Five-year estimates for total expenditures are provided as well as status information on prior year projects.

The following categories and subcategories capture all projects:

- Acquisition and Development
  - District Wide Land Acquisition
  - District Wide New Construction
  - District Wide Park Development
  - District Wide Planning

- Facility Rehabilitation
  - District Wide Accessibility Improvements
  - District Wide Facility Maintenance Construction
  - District Wide Fitness Improvements
  - District Wide Sculpture and Mural Restoration

- Site Improvements
  - District Wide Bike Trail Improvements
  - District Wide Landscape Improvements
  - District Wide Site Maintenance Construction
  - District Wide Playgrounds
  - District Wide Spray Pools and Swimming Pools
  - District Wide Courts, Fencing, Paving, Lighting

- Special Facilities, Vehicles and Equipment
  - District Wide Equipment and Vehicles
  - District Wide Special Facilities

Within these categories, both individual and District Wide projects are identified.

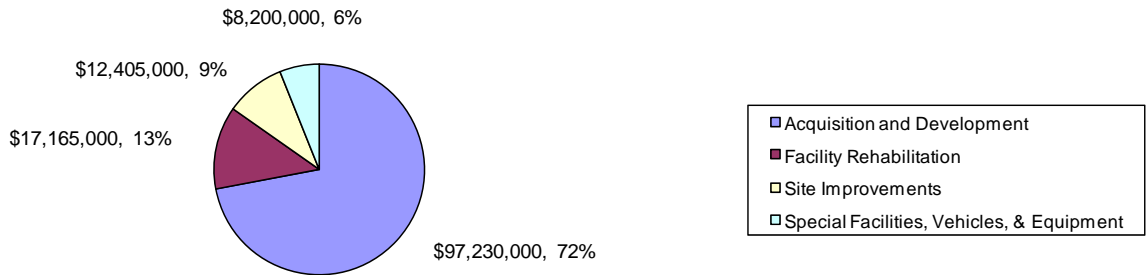

Individual Projects – indicate those currently included in this plan, based on application of the evaluation criteria and priority groupings as described earlier in this book.

District Wide Projects – include anticipated projects not yet identified with a particular park.

PROJECT STATUS DEFINITIONS

Acquisition .. A project phase that generally includes research, intergovernmental coordination, and feasibility analyses for the acquisition of new park properties.

New .. A project phase that indicates a new project to the Capital Improvement Plan. A project under this phase typically proceeds to pre-design.

Pre-design .. A project phase that generally includes research, program and feasibility analysis, community outreach, needs assessment and prioritization, and budgeting.

Design .. A project phase that typically produces design and construction documents for bidding.

Bid/Award .. A project phase that typically follows the Design phase and typically includes the issuance of construction documents for bidding and the award of a contract for construction.

Construction .. A project phase that typically follows the Bid/Award phase and includes activities meant to produce the project specified in the design and construction documents.

Complete .. A final project phase that indicates the substantial completion of a project.

Ongoing .. Activities that are continuously in progress.

Hold .. A phase for projects that are currently inactive, typically due to conflicts with other active or planned projects, low community demand, or lack of available funding.

State Hold .. A phase for projects that are currently inactive due to lack of available funding. These projects are funded in whole or part with Illinois State grants and are expected to proceed once the grant funding becomes available.

Cancelled .. A phase that indicates projects that have been cancelled.
